BONYNGE HITS FORESTRY LAW

WANTS WATERS OF FOREST RESERVES FREE.

STREAMS BELONG TO STATES

CLAIMS THAT APPROPRIATIONS HAVE BEEN TOO LARGE.

HIS AMENDMENT IS DEFEATED

Clause in Agricultural Bill Relating to Bureau of Forestry Passed After Tilts Are Exchanged by Colorado Congressmen and Others.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—After having undergone many changes the paragraph of the agricultural bill relating to the bureau of forestry was finally passed by the House of Representatives. Messrs. Mondell of Wyoming and Smith of California, continued their attacks on the bureau, and in this they were supported by Bonynge of Colorado and Cushman of Washington. These embraced charges that the bureau had created timber monopolies in favor of large corporations, illegally assumed jurisdiction over water rights belonging to the western states, and juggled with figures in order to obtain large appropriations from Congress. The work of the bureau was vigorously defended by Hepburn of Iowa and Scott of Kansas.

Bonynge Offers Amendment.

Mr. Bonynge of Colorado offered an amendment providing that no part of the appropriation shall be used by either the secretary of agriculture or the bureau of forestry in the enforcement of any regulation which prohibits or attempts to prohibit the citizens of the states wherein the national forests are located from appropriating beneficial results from the waters of the national streams thereon, affected by laws of said states and the statutes of the United States.

Mr. Bonynge read from a number of authorities to show that the government did not own the waters of non-navigable streams. On the other hand he declared those waters were the property of the states, and the government had no right to make a charge for them.

Scott Supports Measure.

This contention was combated by Mr. Scott, who said there was "nothing profound or unusual in the proposition." Stripped of its long phraseology the proposition of Mr. Bonynge, he said, was to enable any individual or corporation to use land belonging to the United States to the exclusion of other individual or corporation without money and without price.

"The present conduct of the forestry service," said Mr. Scott, "in requiring a reasonable fee to be charged when a corporation carries its works over land owned by the United States, is only such conduct as every private citizen exercises in the management of his own business."

Mr. Bonynge's amendment was defeated.

Mondell Backs Bonynge.

Mr. Mondell was by this time ready with another attack on the forestry bureau. He charged that in its administration citizens were in many instances denied rights of way across forest reserves.

"The proposition is," said Mr. Mondell, "whether the States of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and even the great state of New York are to become federal provinces or remain part of the sovereign states, and whether this forestry bureau shall persist in denying the citizens the rights granted by Congress."

An amendment to meet this criticism was lost.

Mr. Mondell next brought his attention to the committee on agriculture and said it had been in a reckless state of mind when it allowed to the forestry bureau $1,000,000 more than had been estimated for. He charged that, being it may say, it could be used for any purpose including advertising."

The statement was contradicted by Mr. Scott, who read a letter from Secretary Wilson saying the time was to cover unforeseen items. Mr. Scott defended his committee, declaring that it had prepared a very conservative bill.

Charging that the forestry bureau had contrary to its claim, expended annually over $1,000,000 more than it received, Mr. Mondell said that the bureau goes on year after year juggling figures. He moved to strike out the paragraph appropriating $500,000 "for the proper and economical administration, protection and development of the national forests."

Mr. Hepburn, speaking with much fervor, criticised what he said were "the chippings" against economy. As to the forest service, he charged that the principal opposition had come from the committee on public land of which Mr. Mondell was the head. Twelve of its members, he said, were from the public land states, but he

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL

BURNS NOW SOLE OWNER OF DURKEE BUILDING.

Buys John Harman's Interest in Pikes Peak Avenue Property for $50,000.

One of the largest realty deals of the year was closed yesterday when James F. Burns, the well-known mining man, bought from John Harman his half interest in the Durkee building, No. 27-29 East Pikes Peak avenue. While the consideration is not named in the deed, it is thought to have been approximately $50,000, as the building cost $90,000 when erected in 1889. Mr. Burns was already a half owner in the property, and the deal gives him complete ownership.

JAMES F. BURNS,

Now Sole Owner of the Durkee Building on Pikes Peak Avenue.

The building, which was erected by Charles Durkee who died several years ago, is a three-story brick structure used principally for office and club purposes, the second floor being occupied by the Democratic club.

Until yesterday Messrs Burns and Harman had owned the building jointly for a number of years. They were pioneer mining men of the Cripple Creek district where they were associated together in many deals in the early days of the camp. Both are heavy stockholders in the Portland Gold Mining company as well as a number of others.

According to the papers recorded at the county clerk's office, the deal was negotiated by Charles T. Fertig, who left the city last night for Kansas and could not be seen regarding the transaction.

NEGRO BILLS DEFEATED

COMMITTEE REJECTS PLAN TO RESTORE SOLDIERS.

Members of Twenty-fifth Infantry Discharged for Brownsville Affair, Cannot Be Restored.

WASHINGTON, March 31. The five Democratic members of the Senate committee on military affairs today succeeded in defeating both the Warner and Foraker bills for restoration to duty of negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry who were discharged without honor because of the affray at Brownsville, Texas. The success of the minority was accomplished by voting as a unit against the divided majority. The effect will be to cause both bills to be reported adversely. A majority vote of the Senate would enact one of the bills, however, and Senator Warner is hopeful that his measure will yet become law.

The essential point of difference between the two bills is that the Warner measure provides that the President may reinstate any soldier upon becoming satisfied that he is innocent of the charge against him, while the Foraker bill compels the reinstatement of such soldiers if they take oath of their innocence.

When the committee met today Senator Warner moved to report his bill favorably. Whereupon Senator Foraker moved to substitute his bill. The latter motion was defeated, the five Democrats, Messrs. Taliaferro, Foster, Gorman, Frazier and McCreary, joining with Messrs. Warren, Lodge, Warner and Dupont in opposing it. A vote was then taken on the Warner bill, and it was adopted, the Democrats joining with Senators Scott, Foraker and Bulkeley in opposing.

QUARTER MILLION MINERS STRIKE

BITUMINOUS COAL WORKERS DROP PICKS.

WANT A NEW WAGE SCALE

THOUSANDS OF MINES WILL BE DESERTED.

THE DIFFERENCES ARE SLIGHT

Vice President Lewis of United Mine Workers of America, in Charge of Strike, Will Demand Restoration of the Unit System.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 31.—Two hundred and fifty thousand picks dropped from the hands of as many bituminous coal miners of the United States this evening, not to be used again until a wage scale settlement has been reached and adopted between the miners of the United Mine Workers of America and the coal operators of the various fields. Tomorrow morning 250,000 men will be idle and thousands of coal mines of the country will be deserted.

The situation, however, does not indicate a prolonged strike. An open winter and industrial depression have left a large stock of coal on hand, and the differences between miners and operators are very slight. It is practically agreed that the present wage scale will be continued, but some politics in connection with the change tonight in the national officers of the miners' organization and local differences between operators and miners have resulted in temporary suspension from work until a new wage scale is agreed to either by districts or individual mines.

Abolished Unit System.

Until two years ago the bituminous coal mining wage of the country was based upon the agreement reached in the central competitive field, consisting of Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and western Pennsylvania, and considered as a unit. This unit system was broken two years ago, when President Mitchell signed a scale with Pittsburg operators, who agreed to pay the scale demanded after operators of the other three states had refused and the miners won their fight in consequence. Operators signed the scale individually throughout the country.

Since that time the miners have tried to get back the unit rule, or interstate agreement, but operators of western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois, after negotiations lasting all the past winter, have refused to meet in interstate convention with the miners. As a last resort, President Mitchell called the miners in national convention and district settlements were authorized with the present wage scale as a minimum, and failing to agree by districts, the miners were authorized to sign the present scale with operators individually.

To Revive Unit Rule.

Vice President Lewis, who will succeed President Mitchell tomorrow, is endeavoring to revive the interstate unit rule. In the meantime, district joint meetings are being held in the various states. Central Pennsylvania and the block coal district of Indiana (Clay county) are the only two districts that have signed. Indiana operators and miners in session at Terre Haute are adjusting their small differences and have decided to continue at work pending a settlement. There will be no strike in this state. The miners' district meeting at Springfield has not reached an agreement, but the relations between the opposition in this state are friendly. Western Pennsylvania has not reached an agreement, and the mines will close down, throwing out of work 30,000 men. Ohio mines will close also, as no agreement has been reached.

Affects Southwest.

The southwest district, consisting of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas, is holding its meeting at Kansas City, and it is said the miners will be idle for a time. Thirty-five thousand men are affected. The miners of the Kanawha field, in West Virginia, are holding their joint meeting at Huntington. No agreement has been reached, but one is expected. The New River, Pocahontas and Fairmont fields are nonunion, and are not affected.

West Virginia and Kentucky miners and operators will continue operations, it is believed, pending a settlement.

President T. L. Lewis, who is planning to revive the interstate agreement, which, it is said, may have induced some districts not to sign, said this evening that he would make no move for several days. He wishes the negotiations now in progress in the various districts to reach some kind of a conclusion before he begins to work out his plans. He is still in the hope of reinstating the joint relations between the operators of Indiana, Ohio, western Pennsylvania and Illinois, and the indications are that he will call an interstate joint conference within the next two weeks. He will not convene the new national executive board for at least a week. He was not ready today to announce his appointments, but it became known that the office of national statistician, held by Chris Evans, will be abolished, and Samuel Sexton is to be retired as editor of the United Mine Workers Journal. William Searle of Springfield, Ill., succeeds Lewis as treasurer; J. H. Fink, Tyler; Mark E. Raffey, trustee for three years; James A. Orr, representative to the grand lodge at Dallas, Tex., and J. P. Bussey, alternate to the grand lodge meeting, rather than the election of officers, no business was transacted.

HILL IS AGREEABLE

PARIS, March 31.—The friends of David Jayne Hill in Paris while greatly deploring what has occurred express the utmost satisfaction over the Washington dispatches indicating that the incident is closed so far as Dr. Hill is concerned.

While Dr. Hill himself still declines to talk on the subject there is no reason to believe that he seems to harbor personal umbrage and decline to go to Berlin if the administration wishes him to take the ambassadorship. On the contrary there seems to be no doubt that he will abide by the decision of the Americans as throughout the incident he has had implicit confidence in the justice of President Roosevelt and Secretary Root and looked to them to determine what course should be pursued.

RESULTS IN NEW YORK STATE

Parsons Wins in Republican Primaries and McCarren in Democratic.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Herbert Parsons, chairman of the Republican county committee, won the victory in the Republican primaries held here today.

Former Governor Benjamin B. Odell said after learning the result:

"I shall continue to pursue my policy of silence except to say that the figures speak for themselves. I wish to thank all who stood by me."

The Democratic primaries in Manhattan and the Bronx passed off quietly and there were no contests.

There was but one contest in the primaries held by the Independence league and this [illegible] outside the district in which it was fought.

In the Brooklyn Democratic primaries the victory went to state Senator Patrick McCarren by sweeping majorities nearly all the contested district reports received from 11 of the 18 where the supremacy of the present leaders was disputed indicating beyond doubt an easy triumph for McCarren.

NEGOTIATIONS HAVE REACHED CRITICAL STAGE.

TERMS OF TREATY OUTLINED

Out of Many Millions Held by Americans, Root Says, Very Little Is Left—Demands for Redress Met With but Scant Courtesy.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The long expected correspondence between America and Venezuela respecting pending American claims against the latter country was submitted to the Senate today and is almost certain to create a profound impression. It will be difficult to digest the vast mass of material which Secretary Root has placed before Congress, but even a cursory inspection of the documents makes it evident that negotiations have reached a critical phase. The president's realization of that fact is shown by his transmission of the matter to the Senate without any comment regarding the correspondence and especially Secretary Root's strong presentation of the American case as sufficient to instantly enlist the attention of Congress.

All of the correspondence and documents were referred to the Senate committee on foreign relations. Secretary Root will appear before the committee tomorrow ostensibly to discuss some of the treaties negotiated at The Hague, but it is expected he will take up the Venezuelan affair and suggest some action. Those members of the committee who have already familiarized themselves with the situation have arranged tentatively a program which consists of three propositions, as follows:

Terms of Treaty.

Place a prohibitive tariff on Venezuelan coffee, the exports of which constitute 45 per cent of the entire Venezuelan foreign trade and 94 per cent of the coffee being taken by the United States.

Exclude all importations of asphalt from Lake Bermudez, the product of which is taken almost entirely by the United States.

Authorize the President to exercise the general power invested in him to take whatever steps he may consider necessary to treat with Venezuela in the future.

The most interesting features of the correspondence are those in which Secretary Root figured. Various attempts had been made by preceding administrations to effect a settlement of the American claims, the late Secretary Hay having gone so far as to lay down what was regarded as almost an ultimatum. But all these attempts failed of success, and after a lapse of many months Secretary Root felt bound to again strive to reach an agreement.

A Demand for Redress.

In a letter to Minister Russell, February 28, 1907, Mr. Root reviewed the difficulties encountered by the various American claimants and instructed Mr. Russell to demand remedy and redress. The latter concluded with this statement:

"You are instructed to bring the several causes of complaint to the immediate and serious attention of the Venezuelan government and to treat that the government to which you are accredited shall give to each and every demand herein set forth immediate consideration."

In issuing general instructions to the American minister, Secretary Root said:

"You will call the attention of the government of Venezuela to the fact that, notwithstanding the long and unbroken friendship manifested by the United States for Venezuela, notwithstanding the repeated occasions upon which the United States has intervened as a friend in need to relieve Venezuela from disagreeable and dangerous complications with other powers, notwithstanding the patience and consideration which has always characterized the action of this government toward Venezuela, the government of Venezuela has within the past year practically confiscated or destroyed all the substantial property interests of Americans in that country. This has been done sometimes in accordance with the forms of law and contrary to the spirit of the law, sometimes without form of law, by one device or another, while the action of the government apparently always hostile to American interests, and of many millions of dollars invested by Americans in that country, practically nothing remains."

Scant Consideration Received.

The claims as outlined by Mr. Root were presented to Venezuela by Mr. Russell, and the correspondence shows they received scant consideration on that account. Mr. Root addressed another letter to Mr. Russell dated June 21, 1907, calling attention to the demands for an amicable adjustment of the controversies by means of international arbitration made in February.

Commenting on Venezuela's failure to take cognizance of the American note, Mr. Root in his letter said:

"It shows the Venezuelan government [illegible] towards [illegible] courtesy [illegible] in truth [illegible] cally refuses consideration. It is practically confined to a simple denial of the correctness of the attitude of this government. The curt and contemptuous way in which it ignores or dismisses the serious and respectful representations of the United States produces a painful impression of indifference and disrespect. With the patience, however, which has characterized the actions of the government of the United States in the past in all its relations to Venezuela, the department of state again instructs you to reiterate the views expressed in the instructions of February 28 last and to make the following brief reply to each of the points raised by the memorandum of Venezuela."

TRY TO STOP PARKING

PALMER AND OTHERS ASK FOR AN INJUNCTION.

Claim City Has No Right to Carry Out Cascade Avenue Plans.

The Cascade avenue property owners who have been fighting the middle parking scheme, yesterday called upon the district court to prevent the City Council from carrying into effect the plan by the issuance of an injunction. An extraordinary claim upon which they ask the injunction is the contention that Cascade avenue, because of a flaw in the platting, does not belong to the city of Colorado Springs, but to the owners of abutting property, and for that reason the contemplated action is unlawful.

Claim Action Illegal.

It is declared, further, that the petition for the middle parking did not carry the signatures of a majority of the property owners of the district, and several instances are cited in which it is said the signatures are not in accordance with the law. Since the improvements are for the whole city, it is declared that the assessment is wrongfully placed upon the Cascade avenue property owners exclusively. The plaintiffs hold that the City Council was without authority to pass the ordinance creating parking district No. 3, and make the assessments aggregating $2,198, and that its action is null and void.

Case Set for Friday.

The plaintiffs request that the court issue an injunction forbidding the Mayor and Council from letting the contract, which, according to advertisement, is to be done on April 6. Judge Morris has set the date for the hearing of the petition for the injunction on Friday morning, at 10 o'clock. A. D. Parker, Frank E. Gibson and John E. Macbeth, trustees of the estate of Catherine M. Thayer; William J. Palmer, Carrie L. Wight, Arthur Wight, William Striebe, Katherine Mayhew, Mary N. Gregg, James S. Gregg and A. V. Hunter are the plaintiffs in the suit against the city of Colorado Springs, Mayor D. N. Heizer and the members of the City Council, individually.

History of the Case.

The complaint recites the history of the case, including the various petitions, resolutions and ordinances. The petition was filed with the City Council on January 6 calling for the paving of the street and the parking of a middle strip 31½ feet wide on Cascade avenue between Cache la Poudre street and Platte avenue. The city engineer was ordered to prepare plans and make estimates, which he did, figuring the total assessment as $27,198. On February 25 owners representing 1,650 feet of frontage and 1,825 feet of

EVANS DUE TO ARRIVE

ADMIRAL TO LAND AT SAN DIEGO TODAY.

Will Be Hurried North in Private Car to San Luis Obispo Hot Springs.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 31.—Definite information that Rear Admiral Evans, en route to the Hot Springs at San Luis Obispo, will arrive in San Diego late tomorrow afternoon on board his flagship, the Connecticut, was received here by wireless today. The admiral will be transferred immediately upon the arrival of the big battleship off Coronado beach, to a launch and brought up the bay. A private car has been sent here and placed at his disposal. It is likely the car will be attached to the train leaving at midnight tomorrow.

The tender Yankton, the smallest vessel in the fleet, arrived this afternoon from Magdalena bay with mail from the fleet. As the little yacht-like craft was making her way toward Point Loma the rumor spread that Admiral Evans was on board and a report to that effect was sent throughout the country. The rumor continued in circulation even after the Yankton had passed quarantine.

Wireless permission had been secured for the tender to pass the station without stopping, and this further convinced the officers in charge that Admiral Evans was on board and was being hurried to San Diego in time to catch the afternoon train to the north. A good crowd was on the ground along the beach.

As soon as the Yankton cast anchor, however, Lieutenant Gherardi, in command, quickly dissipated the report. He added that the news of Admiral Evans' intention to come in advance of the fleet was news to him, as the fact had not been announced at Magdalena up to the time of the Yankton's departure last Saturday and Admiral Evans has steadily been [illegible] in health.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The alleged tendency of the government to overrun the powers of the states of the Union and to ignore the restrictions of the Constitution was the subject of remarks by Mr. Teller of Colorado in the Senate today. He declared that there had grown up a practice of attempting to justify any act by the federal authorities whether there was authority for it or not if it was ascribed to the public interest. "We hear the repeated assertion," said Mr. Teller, "that whatever ought to be done we should find a method of doing."

Mr. Teller spoke on the bill granting a private company the right to construct a canal in the Snake river, Washington, declaring that the right sought in that bill belonged to the state and not to the federal government.

Senator Teller criticised in sharp terms the administration of the forest reserves, contending that they were largely conducted under regulations of the bureau which transcended the law and afforded but poor opportunity for either the homesteader or the prospector to lead lives of the opportunities which Congress intended to afford to both classes.

Idaho Senators Split.

The remainder of the day was devoted to a discussion of the Borah-Heyburn dam bill on its merits. As on previous days Senators Heyburn and Borah both of Idaho, took opposite sides, Heyburn opposing and Borah favoring. Mr. Heyburn declared he would maintain his position even if satisfied that by doing so he would unhorse his colleague in the Senate. No vote was reached when at 4.30 p. m. the senate adjourned.

BATHING COMPANY ASSIGNS

Officers Plan to Build Bath House as Soon as Affairs Are Settled. Debts Aggregate $12,000.

For the purpose of facilitating the settlement of litigation and making possible the beginning of construction at an early date, the Manitou Bathing company filed with the county clerk a general assignment. Thomas J. Sanford of Manitou is named as assignee. The debts of the company, it is said, will aggregate $12,000, consisting of liens, claims for services and general running expenses. The estate consists of the bath house site and a judgment of $24,000 against Daniel Hitchcock.

This action was taken to get the affairs of the company in such shape that the construction of the bath house may be started," said Dr. B. B. Creighton, vice president of the company last night. "The idea is to get everything before the court so that it may establish what claims are proper. The property will then have to be sold to pay the creditors. It is our intention to begin work as soon as possible."

According to J. F. Sanford, attorney for Jeannette Campbell, who brought the litigation resulting in the awarding of $24,000 damages against Hitchcock, a number of the claims made in the assignment will not be allowed. "Not more than $6,000 will be found to be legitimate," he said.

Fabric Styles

"In suitings worsted in different finishes are most popular. Fancy cheviots and cassimeres will be better favored. New grays, predominate, and will include novelty grays with color illuminations. Olives first, then browns will push the grays closely. Blues are strong, the monotony of the solids enlivened by purple-tinged blues, color decorations and fancy serges.

Animal, or zoo, shades are newer than the wood and leather blends, being bison brown, deerskin tones, shading to light fawn; elephant shades, ranging from dark drab to light gray; forest shades, from dark foliage green to bronze; admixtures of these different shades, and some solids and mixtures brightened with green, red, blue, purple and lavender in the decorations.

Stripes are fashionable and in great variety, ranging from hairlines to broad patterns and designated variously as "pencil," "chalk," "zebra," "club," "regatta," etc., stripes, the latter two being most favored. There are some few checks and plaids.

The choice of overcoatings includes almost every style of fabric excepting novelty suitings, which good taste excludes."

NEW HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION

General Palmer Probably Will Be Elected President—Incorporation Papers Filed.

After long agitation on the part of good roads enthusiasts, articles of incorporation have finally been filed at Denver for the Rocky Mountain Highway association. Gerald Hughes, a well-known attorney of Denver, filed the papers, the other incorporators being Harold Kountze and Charles A. Johnson.

The object of the association is the promotion of building improved highways and roads along the base of the Rocky Mountains in Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, New Mexico and Arizona.

General William J. Palmer of this city, who has been identified with the movement since its inception, will probably be elected president of the new organization, and there is a strong likelihood of other Colorado Springs citizens having place on the board of directors, who will be 15 in number.

According to the articles of incorporation, the members of the board of directors will appoint advisory committees in each state embraced in the organization, which committees, in turn, will control the branches of the organization formed in any state, territory, county or city represented.

Any person interested in the good roads movement is eligible to membership in the association, and a number of the most prominent men in Colorado and the other states named above have already signified their intention of entering.

PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

Dunbar Y. M. C. A. Must Have Several Thousand Dollars to Pay Debt and Make Improvements.

Members of the Dunbar Y. M. C. A. will start a campaign within a few days to raise several thousand dollars for the purpose of clearing the title on the property at 402 South Weber street and carrying out extensive improvements. The association still owes a debt of about $3,000 on the property, while the improvements planned include many alterations and additions to the present buildings and furnishings, besides the building of a gymnasium.

"This Y. M. C. A. has for its aim the uplifting of the young men of our race," said President Adam Jones yesterday. "Its purpose is to counteract the many evil influences that are so easily open to our young men, and to give them a place where they may go and be surrounded by beneficial influences. We feel that whatever advancement may be accomplished through it is of value to the community at large, and hope that the generous citizens of Colorado Springs will aid us in making the work effective."

SPRINGS PEOPLE TO ATTEND

Will Take Part in Spring Meeting of Pueblo Presbytery.

Several Colorado Springs Presbyterians will attend the annual spring meeting of the Pueblo presbytery, which will be held begining Tuesday, April 14, at the First Presbyterian church of Rocky Ford. The annual meeting of the Woman's Presbyterian society will also be held at the same place, beginning on Wednesday morning, April 15. Announcements regarding the program have not yet been received in this city.

FIGHT RESULTS IN A DRAW

Featherweight Champion Is Clever and Outgeneraled the Battling Dane.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 31.—With a disadvantage of at least eight pounds against him, Abe Attel, champion featherweight of America tonight fought Battling Nelson of Chicago, to a 15-round draw. At the end of the contest both men were fairly deluged with blood, Nelson's face in particular presenting the worst sight.

Attel had the advantage of all the earlier rounds. He matched his superior skill against the more rugged and sturdier man, and by outgeneraling his opponent in this manner bade fair to earn a clear cut decision. Nelson, however, forced the pace throughout, all the while seeking to force the Hebrew into close quarters. Attel, however, was elusive as an eel. He was here, there and everywhere all the time shooting lightning left and right jolts to Nelson's disfigured face.

The turning point came, however, in the ninth round. Nelson, who had been taking his punishment without a whimper finally succeeded in getting past Attel's guard and once having paved the way, he worried his man considerably. The Battler landed several powerful body punches in the succeeding rounds and changing his tactics, played for Attel's face until he had the blood spouting in streams from his opponent's nostrils. The men then battled at a furious pace exchanging a punch for a punch, Nelson having the greater power behind his blows.

In the 14th round it looked as if Nelson would score a knockout, as Attel was apparently in distress. But the wonderful cleverness and knowledge of ring trickery stood Attel well in hand and he stayed and smothered the round out. He came up fresh and determined in the last round and then followed a battle royal. The men flayed each other with might and main, Attel landing four blows to the Dane's one.

Both of the men were dissatisfied with the decision. Nelson was down to 131 and Attel weighed about 124 pounds. Betting on the result favored Nelson, odds of 10 to 7½ being offered at the ringside.

DENVER, March 31.—Without allowing them a single hit or run, the Colorado College Tigers today repeated against Manual Training High school the 13 to 0 score by which they defeated East Denver yesterday. Hyder, pitching for the Springs bunch, was in rare form, and not even once did the scholastics get even a stingy hit from his delivery. He was given splendid support, and, although three errors were made by his team mates, none came at critical stages of the game.

While the Tigers were keeping their opponents out of the hit and run columns, they themselves were making all kinds of inroads. Twelve hits were their total, and of these Siddons, the batting fiend, got four, the same number he made in the East Denver game. The 13 runs were pretty well distributed through the game, although six of them came in the third. Manual made 13 errors.

The Manual Training team was defeated by the University of Colorado a short time ago, only 5 to 0. The comparison is gratifying to the Tigers, who are also elated over their continued improvement in batting.

Score by innings:

									R.	H.	E.
Colo. Col.	3	0	6	1	1	1	0	0	1—13	12	3
Man. Train.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—0	0	13

The Tigers tomorrow will meet the Denver university team, and are expecting a hard tussle. This will be a practice game, not counting in the championship series.

BOULDER WILL BE WELCOMED

State University May Reverse Decision Not to Enter Tiger Meet on May 16.

The announcement made yesterday from Boulder that an effort is being made to get the permission of the university authorities to the sending of the track team to the intercollegiate track and field meet on Washburn field, on May 16, caused rejoicing in local athletic circles.

This is taken as an indication of the desire of the officials of the University of Colorado for the establishment of the best of feeling between the two schools in particular, as well as with the other institutions of the state, who had all been inclined to resent the attitude of the State university in wanting all the track meets at Boulder. The one thing that conflicts is the fact that interscholastic day is on May 16, and it had been desired to keep the university team at home to help entertain the school's guests.

With the University of Colorado competing, the meet will be representative of all the schools of the state, as all of the others have promised to send their teams. This will settle, without any subsequent squabbling over records and comparative strength, the championship, as it should be settled—in a meet in which all claimants to the honors compete.

BASEBALL CONFERENCE

MANAGER SELEE WILL ARRIVE IN CITY TODAY.

State League Will Hold Meeting Although Few Days Considering New Park Site.

Manager Frank Selee of the Colorado Springs baseball team in the state league will arrive in Colorado Springs today for a stay of two or three days, during which time he will take definite steps to form a local club. Denver promoters will come down to confer with him tomorrow, and it is probable that the meeting of the state league for the purposes of organization, considering the schedule and ruling on players will be held in Colorado Springs next Sunday or Monday.

H. R. Hahn will meet Mr. Selee when he arrives today, and they will inspect the Roswell park site with a view to considering its desirability as the location for the ball grounds. Another site near the city near the old Boulevard park is also under consideration.

With the coming of Mr. Selee, things will assume definite shape and the fans will learn of the plans that are on foot for the installation of the new league in this city.

TRY TO STOP PARKING

side frontage, made a protest, but the ordinance creating parking district No. 3 and making the assessments was passed on March 2, and the city clerk ordered to advertise for bids, to be opened April 6.

It is declared by the protesting property owners that the part of Cascade avenue involved is a part of the original town plat, which, when it was turned over to the city, was not signed, and, not fulfilling all legal requirements, therefore does not vest the fee of the streets contained within it, to the city. These streets and avenues, it is claimed, are not the property of Colorado Springs, but of the abutting property owners, whom own it in fee subject only to the rights of the public to use the same for travel and other strictly necessary purposes of streets. It was the intention to make Cascade avenue a wide street, and as the parking is not in any way necessary for the use of travel, it is declared to be an obstruction, inconsistent with the original dedication. Furthermore, it is declared that to put the property to such uses would be taking it from its owners without due process of law, in violation of the Colorado and United States constitutions.

It is declared that the petition for middle parking is not subscribed to by a majority of the frontage assessed. There are a total of 4,938 feet fronting on Cascade avenue, with 4,500 feet side frontage. On the petition were 2,726 feet of Cascade avenue frontage and 2,332 feet of side frontage, but it is claimed by the protesters that not all of this frontage is legally subscribed, and that the property of the owners who did legally subscribe totals only 2,262 feet on Cascade avenue, with 1,952 feet side frontage. To support its contention that several subscribers were not legally obtained, the complaint cites these instances:

Catherine L. G. Shaw (formerly Catherine Danielson), owning 104 feet on Cascade and 190 feet side frontage. This property was signed up by the United States Trust company of New York, by William Kingsley, vice president. It is objected to because it did not contain the signature of the owner.

The estate of Edmiston Gwynne, owning 220 feet on Cascade avenue and 190 side frontage. Objection is made because this is signed only by P. W. Huntington, one of the three trustees.

The estate of Henry T. Cook, owning 100 feet Cascade avenue frontage. Objection is raised because this is signed by only two of the three trustees, Eliza H. Cook and W. L. Cook.

Amelia C. Scudder, 40 feet on Cascade avenue. It is alleged that this property does not front on Cascade avenue, and that, being signed by Wills, Spackman and Kent, agents, does not contain the owner's signature.

It is also declared that the supplemental petition was received and filed too late. This contains property owned by Mr. Williamson, 50 feet on Cascade; Mr. Johnson, 50 feet on Cascade and 190 side, and Mrs. J. Oppenheim by D. J. Finkelstein, 50 feet on Cascade and 90 side. In the latter case it is also declared that the owner's signature is not secured.

Of Interest to Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nervine. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeons' knife, would, it is believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a specifiing of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too is remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Put This Stove in Your Kitchen

It is wonderfully convenient to do kitchen work on a stove that's ready at the instant wanted, and out of the way the moment you're done. Such a stove is the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove. By using it you avoid the continuous overpowering heat of a coal fire and cook with comfort, even in dog-days. The is so constructed that it cannot add perceptibly to the heat of a room; the flame being directed up a retaining chimney to the stove top where it is needed for cooking. You can see that a stove sending out heat in but one direction would be preferable on a hot day to a stove radiating heat in all directions. The "New Perfection" keeps a kitchen uniformly comfortable. Three sizes, fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

What the Press Agents Say

GRACE CAMERON IN "DOLLY DIMPLE"

Laughter, smiles, tears, show girls, comedians, tuneful, musical, dramatic situations, elaborate costuming and scenic display, are all promised our playgoers when Broadway's favorite comic opera star, Grace Cameron, makes her appearance in C. H. Kerr's latest, biggest and best success, "Little Dollie Dimples," which appears at the Opera House next Monday.

This piece cannot be termed a musical comedy nor is it hardly after the style of the old-fashioned comic opera, but is classed more in the line of a musical drama. Miss Cameron, whose voice is that of the lyric or coloratura as well as a dramatic soprano, will be heard to great advantage in the various solos and finales, which are far better, musically speaking, than the average musical comedy or comic opera affords. Yet she appears in her little older impersonations which have made her famous in the vaudeville halls of all Europe and America. Her part was fitted to Miss Cameron, taken from the notable success she achieved as "Dollie Dimples" in Piff Paff Pouf" at the Casino theater, and to say that this part is the best that Miss Cameron has ever had an opportunity to appear in, is but putting it mildly.

There are show girls galore, pony ballets, chappie chorus and all that sort of thing which goes to make up the average musical comedy performance; but over and above this, there is one of the most notable casts that has ever appeared. Prominent among the comedians of the company is Mr. Al Lawrence, the celebrated mimic, "The Man of a Hundred Faces." His delightful impersonation of the simple and ignorant country boy, who comes to the city and accepts a position in a stylish family, attempting to pose as an English butler, leads up to many uncomfortable, funny complications, and his attempt to master the English accent, affords no end of amusement.

THE VIRGINIAN.

"The Virginian," as dramatized by Owen Wister and Kirke La Shelle from Mr. Wister's stirring and widely-read novel of the same name is to be the bill at the Opera House next Saturday. The book has been bought by more than a half million of people and it is probable that each of these copies has been read at least five times. This is unusual popularity, even in this day of big selling novels and it would probably be the almost unanimous verdict of this vast host of readers that there have been few modern American stories that have more richly merited success than has this realistic romance of the ranches. It is doubtful if the appearance of any dramatization since that of "The Prisoner of Zenda" has been awaited with more eagerness by local fiction lovers than is this play made from "The Virginian" and this fact is only one indication of the exceptional hold which this story has taken upon its readers.

With the evident intent of fixing in literature for all time the fast disappearing, if not extinct, and wholly picturesque type of being, the American cowpuncher, Mr. Wister has given in "The Virginian" a character study that seems to have satisfied all demands of fancy regarding our western range rider. The hero, though born in Virginia has lived for years in Wyoming and is in perfect sympathy with the peculiar manifestations of civilization that obtained in that region during the '70s and '80s when cattle raising was the only business, cattle stealing the only crime and lynching the only evidence of law and order. TWO MONTHS' TREATMENT FREE
(MEDICINES EXCEPTED)
Extended to Saturday Night

NEW YORK DOCTORS

Cut Down Time of Free Treatment and Give Notice of a Raise in Prices After May 1st.

The New York Doctors have had to bear to the pressure and cut down the time of their free treatments. Prior to this, for the past five years, these noted specialists have, from time to time, given notice that for a limited number of days they would examine all patients free and treat them free for a period of three months, except for a small fee to cover the cost of medicines. Any time during Monday and Tuesday of this week you can be examined free, but you can only get two months' treatment free. It is not probable that you will have another opportunity to get even two months' treatment free again for a long time, and a considerable rise in prices is promised, to take place by May 1.

Perhaps you do not understand the method by which cases are taken by the New York Doctors. Here is the plan: These doctors are specialists in the chronic diseases of men, women and children. So that if you have consumption, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh of the nose and throat or catarrh of the stomach and bowels, dyspepsia or any stomach trouble, constipation or any bowel trouble, any liver, kidney or bladder disease, heart disease, rheumatism, goiter, tumors or growths of any kind, eczema, any disease of the skin, St. Vitus dance, any nervous disease or any chronic disease peculiar to man or woman, you can be examined free and learn all about your condition by following this plan: Go to the Colorado Building, and take the elevator to the third floor and the New York Doctors' offices are in suite 305. Take a seat in the reception room, and you will be called into the consultation room when your turn comes. When you get into the consultation room you will be given a free examination and your condition, together with the plan of treatment in your case, will be explained to you. You will be shown the equipment to be used in your case, and you will then know how well these Doctors are equipped to treat any case, but until you see their office equipment you cannot realize how much apparatus it takes to equip an office to do the best work. It is said that there is not an office in the state so well equipped to CURE CHRONIC DISEASES as the New York Doctors' offices. You can't saw wood with a hammer, and neither can you cure chronic diseases without the proper tools to work with.

The New York Doctors depend upon their office treatment to a great extent to make their cures, but if you also need medicine, the drugs are furnished from their own laboratories, and then you know that you get pure drugs. The New York Doctors have been in this city for nearly six years, and are very well known throughout business and social circles. The cures that they have made in some instances have seemed almost marvelous. They can count their cured patients by the hundreds and even thousands, and you will find them in almost every state in the Union.

An Irishman said that he was sick in bed with the grip for three weeks, and was then sick for four months after he got well. That was a lucky Irishman. Thousands of people in this city have had the grip this winter season, and some of them never will get well. There is no disease so common and no common disease which leaves the system in so precarious and dangerous a condition. All that tired feeling, dull headache, weakness and nervousness, that "rough that hangs," that "cold in the head" that still persists, and that "lack of ambition" can all be done away with by taking a few weeks' well-directed treatment. Don't neglect yourself. Delays are dangerous.

NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

Claiming that $27 is still due her for services rendered as a second girl last December, Anna Alden, a domestic, has filed suit in the county court against Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Montgomery.

The damage suit of Albrecht against the Colorado Springs and Interurban railway was placed on trial in the district court yesterday, the day being consumed in getting a jury and hearing the plaintiff's evidence. The first hearing of the case, some months ago, resulted in a mistrial.

A year's married life has been enough for Charles S. Hill, who yesterday filed suit in the district court for divorce from Evelyn Hill, on the grounds of cruelty. The couple were married in this city on March 1, 1907.

On the grounds of desertion and non-support L. M. Peterson has filed suit in the county court for divorce from Julius M. Peterson. The couple were married at Brooklyn, Wis., in 1889.

The case of Cahn vs. Rojonis was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff, in the justice court, yesterday.

Judge W. S. Morris yesterday sentenced Clarence Maxey, colored, to the state reformatory at Buena Vista. The man pleaded guilty in the district court to the theft of a saddle and several bicycles.

John Patterson, who was arrested Saturday on the complaint of his wife that he had threatened to kill her, was placed on trial yesterday afternoon in Justice Donnington's court. Mrs. Patterson claims that her husband followed her from Illinois here, and that she has been trying to escape him. [illegible] threats that he has made to kill her. The case was taken under advisement by Justice Donnington.

A change of venue was granted Noble Foss by Judge W. S. Morris yesterday. This was upon application of the defense on the ground that the case had been brought into the recent political controversy and for that reason a fair trial could not be secured in this county. After allowing the change of venue, Judge Morris took under consideration the question as to what county the case should be tried in. In Elbert county a new term of court will convene in June, while in no other county except Teller will there be a new term until fall.

"THE PERIL OF PRIDE"

DEAN A. C. PECK PREACHES STRONG SERMON.

Music a Feature of Service—Subjects for Today's Meetings Announced.

Dean A. C. Peck, [illegible] of special services at the First M. E. church, preached to a large congregation last night on "The Peril of Pride," apparently making a deep impression on a wide board. The music was a [illegible] feature of the service, Mr. [illegible] and Mrs. Montgomery being assisted by Dean Peck, being especially appreciated. Mrs. Montgomery is a skillful soprano, while Mr. Montgomery is a fine music leader. Dean Peck's subject for this afternoon's service, which begins at 2:30 o'clock, is "How to Surrender." The evening meeting, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, will open with a song service. The subject of the sermon is "The Kingdom of Satan."

Last Night's Sermon.

Dean Peck last night took for his text: "He did evil because he prepared not his heart to seek the Lord." II Chron. xii:14. He spoke in part as follows:

"The splendor and glory of King Solomon's reign remained undimmed until his death. Crown Prince Rehoboam was in the line of succession. He was proud, self-willed and hot-headed. His mother was Naamah (of Ammonites), a worshipper of idols. His wife was the [illegible] daughter of Absalom, and no doubt as beautiful and unscrupulous. The [illegible] rung out the long rule of the great king and ushered in the new regime of his son. Probably in recognition of the powerful influence of the family of Joseph, it was arranged that the coronation of the new king should occur at Shechem, a city 30 miles north of Jerusalem, in the tribe of Ephraim. Preparations for the event were made on a scale commensurate with the greatness of the Jewish empire.

"The procession of the coronation pageant was about to move—the horses and chariots of the extravagant court, with the royal family, the government and ambassadors from foreign lands were awaiting the signal to start, when an interruption occurred. The tax-ridden people, upon whose shoulders all the burden of this glory rested, had sent a deputation to King Rehoboam requesting an interview. A young politician named Jeroboam was the spokesman of the delegation. The young monarch received them in amazement and listened to their request: 'Thy father made our yoke grievous; now, therefore, ease thou somewhat the grievous servitude of thy father and his heavy yoke which he put upon us and we will serve thee.' The others was compelled by the heavy taxes and forced labor by which the luxury of Solomon had been maintained.

Standard Raised.

"The King asked for three days to consider their request. The old counselors of Solomon advised him that the loyalty of the people could be retained by a policy of conciliation. The young aristocrats, his boon companions, gratified his soul with different advice. His reply was: 'My father made your yoke heavy, but my little finger shall be thicker than my father's loins. My father put a heavy yoke on you, but I will put more to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.' The result was that the standard of rebellion was instantly raised, the officer sent by Rehoboam to treat with the rebels killed with stones and the splendid kingdom of David and Solomon immediately rent asunder.

"The real cause of this far-reaching disaster was that Rehoboam was not right in his heart. 'He did evil because he prepared not his heart to seek the Lord.' Bad hearts inevitably produce bad lives. We cannot reform bad hearts and God does not ask us to do so. 'A corrupt tree cannot bring forth good fruit.' God's plan is to give men new hearts. 'Ye must be born again.' Rehoboam had some good in his nature, but it was outweighed by the evil. He was in trouble all his life because he would not yield himself over to God.

"No man ever had a larger opportunity to do good in this world than did Rehoboam. He was not equal to the responsibility. Providence sets right and wrong before us and leaves us the freedom of choice. It was in the power of this young man to perpetuate or destroy the noblest state on earth. He did not realize his responsibility. The future and eternal destiny of every individual is in his own hands. God cannot interfere if we choose the wrong.

Duty of Parents.

"The foundation of the character of Rehoboam was laid in his own home. His father was doubtless absorbed in the affairs of the kingdom—the marvelous internal improvements and the expanded commerce with an age worn—too busy to train his son. The mother was a heathen and had no love for God nor reverence for the laws of Moses. The home influences were bad. What is the influence of my home life and training on my children is the greatest question for parents these days of growing laxity in parental authority and care.

"A companion of fools shall be destroyed." This is the fate of God's word. Rehoboam and his companions, living in the ways of luxury, idle and pleasure-loving, exalted in station and with royal blood in their veins, had no thought for the sufferings of the toiling millions. Their counsels were those of pride and selfishness. 'Pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall.' Like produces like. No man ever selected evil companions without knowing motives, and becoming impregnated with their leaven of evil. The counsels of self, vanity and rashness stripped the young king of four-fifths of his territory and people, and lowered his prestige among the surrounding nations until five years later, Egypt descended upon him like a whirlwind and plundered the capital and the temple of the almost fabulous treasures collected by David and Solomon. Life, kingdom and destiny were spoiled because Rehoboam 'prepared not his heart to seek the Lord.'"

MARCH WAS PARTIAL TO BOYS

Drinking Men Not Wanted

The above sign is now seen in many shops and offices in this city, because drinking men are unreliable.

Competition is too keen and life is too strenuous for an employer to keep men on his payroll whose nerves are unsteady and whose brains are not clear.

Every line of business is beginning to close its doors to drinking men.

Drunkenness is a disease and like most diseases—has its remedy. Orrine is the reliable treatment and is sold under a positive guarantee to effect a cure or your money will be refunded. Orrine is in two forms: No. 1, which can be used without the patient's knowledge in tea, coffee or food, and No. 2 for those who wish to be cured.

The guarantee applies to both forms. Mailed in plain sealed package on receipt of $1.00. Write for free booklet, mailed in plain sealed envelope. The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C., or the D. Y. Butcher Drug Co.

M. W. A. COUNTY CAMP TODAY

Delegates to Greeley Meeting Will Be Selected and Other Business Transacted.

Resolutions instructing for state delegates from Colorado to the head camp at Peoria to introduce an amendment providing for an assessment to maintain the M. W. A. sanatorium to be established here, will be considered at the county camp which will convene at 10 o'clock this morning at the M. W. A. hall, corner of Huerfano and Tejon streets. Aside from this and other amendments or resolutions that may be deemed advisable, the principal business will be the election of two delegates to the state camp meeting to be held in Greeley, May 5.

Colorado Springs camp No. 7228 has instructed its delegates to vote for J. E. Sanford, whom it has nominated as a delegate to the head camp from Colorado. Clerk H. C. Henderson will call the convention to order and delegates will be present from Colorado Springs camp No. 1228, Colorado City camp No. 1251, Manitou camp No. 2018 and Fountain camp No. [illegible]. Country [illegible] are to be represented today in every state under the jurisdiction of the order.

THE ATTACKS ON PINCHOT.

THE attacks on Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot made in the House Monday by Congressmen Mondell of Wyoming and Smith of California appear to be a continuation of the program inaugurated at the convention held in Denver a few months ago. At that time, it will be remembered, the various forces throughout the West that are opposed for one reason or another to the Federal forestry policy got together and made a noise entirely disproportionate to their importance. They got the support of the Denver papers and succeeded in flooding the country with dispatches designed to create the impression that Colorado in particular and the West in general were simply boiling over with indignation against the President, Mr. Pinchot, Secretary Garfield, and everybody else concerned in the work of preventing the wholesale destruction of what remains of the American forests.

It is perfectly safe to say that this view does not correctly represent the attitude of the West, and it may also be assumed that Western opinion does not endorse the position of the Congressmen who are now leveling their heavy artillery on the chief of the Forestry Bureau. Mr. Pinchot is by far the most capable and efficient man that has ever had charge of this work; he is a trained forester of long experience with a reputation in his profession that extends beyond the borders of this country, and his integrity has never been called into question. It is due more to him than to anybody else that the nation has at last been awakened to the vital importance of protecting the forests, an object which cannot be attained without the creation of vast reserves, or national forests as they are officially known. It is perfectly natural that the setting aside of these tracts should arouse opposition among those individuals and corporations which have been and still are exploiting them for their own profit. It is undeniable that some minor injustices have been done in pursuance of this policy, but many of them have been corrected as soon as they were brought to the attention of the proper authorities, and there is no reason to believe that any of them will be permanent.

THE QUESTION OF ARMOR BELTS.

THE question of whether or not there are serious structural defects in American battleships has now been raging for about three months, or since the publication of Mr. Reuterdahl's magazine article. The naval committees of the Senate and the House have conducted investigations in the course of which pretty much everybody at Washington who can claim recognition as a naval authority has been called to testify. The critics have had their inning and the critics of the critics have had theirs. One day the public has been assured that our battleships possess no weaknesses serious enough to impair their efficiency, and that at any rate such defects as they have are common to the ships of all other nations built at the same time, and the next day some other expert has declared with the same emphasis that all of them are fatally defective.

The principal difference of opinion concerns the location of the armor belts. Mr. Reuterdahl and several naval officers contend that the heavy armor belt which covers the vital parts of the ship—its machinery, boilers, etc.—should be so placed as to dip well below the water line when the ship is light, instead of it projects above the water-line to afford protection. The other faction contend that the armor belt is high enough. It may or may not be significant that most of the defenders are officers in the construction bureau. Their opponents argue that inasmuch as they built the ships it is natural that they should defend their own work, while on the other hand the constructors claim that having built the ships, they possess a more intimate knowledge of what was and was not essential in their construction than can be had by mere critics, like Reuterdahl, or by officers in other branches of the service.

It is hardly probable that the last word in this controversy has been said, but the latest word is interesting because it comes from Rear-Admiral Evans, the man who more than any other is responsible for the organization and efficiency of the battleship fleet that will have just crowned a career of distinction by successfully conducting that fleet from Hampton Roads in the Atlantic to Magdalena Bay in the Pacific. Admiral Evans has been at sea since the beginning of the present controversy, and he probably was not informed concerning it at the time his report regarding the behavior of the ships in heavy weather was made a few days ago. This report, which was written at the direction of Secretary Metcalf, was printed in the morning papers of last Friday, but it is worth republishing again because it sets forth very succinctly the opinion of the most experienced commanding officer in the Navy and the one who ought to know, if anybody does, whether or not the battleships are what they should be. Admiral Evans says:

> Judging from the figures contained in the several replies from commanding officers, which relate to this subject, it would appear that better protection might have been afforded had those belts been so wholly placed between six inches and one foot below the water line, on the theory that the commanding officers would admit sufficient water before an action to sink the belt to within about 18 inches above the water line. But even this is open to question, for it has been noted that even when heavy laden and in the smooth, moderate seas which have thus far characterized this cruise, the ships frequently expose their entire belt and the bottom plating beneath. Under the sea conditions in which battles may be fought, a belt of eight feet in width, if considered alone, is too narrow to afford the desired protection, wherever it may be placed; and the question becomes an academic discussion with certain arguments on each side. It is understood that on the latest ships this question is of little import, as the citadel armor is but one inch less in thickness than that on the water line, and for those ships already built, it is believed that when the bridges are removed and all weights which will be landed should war break out, are taken into consideration, the ship will rise to the six to 12 inches which is believed to be the maximum that it could be desired to raise them.
> It is well to bear in mind that Admiral Evans is not, and so far as we know, never has been a member of the Construction Board. His work has been entirely in what we might call, with disregard of technical terms, the fighting branch of the Navy, as distinguished from the branch which has charge of the building and equipment of ships, so it might be assumed that if he has any bias in the present controversy he would take sides against the constructors who have been so ardently defending their own work. But the above report, carefully read, shows a decided inclination to the opposite view. He says that even when the ships were heavily laden at the beginning of the long cruise to the Pacific the armor belts were so high that "the ships frequently exposed their entire belt and the bottom plating beneath." Under certain conditions an eight-foot belt, if considered alone, would be too narrow to afford protection no matter where placed, so "the question becomes an academic discussion," but in the newer ships the supplementary armor is only one inch thinner than that at the water-line, and in the older ships the removal of unnecessary weights before going into battle would raise the ships sufficiently to protect them. It is well to consider that before going into battle all unnecessary weights are removed from warships, including everything inflammable or easily broken that can be dispensed with. This lightening of the load results in raising the water-line several inches.
> It seems to us that the controversy is, as Admiral Evans put it, "an academic discussion." Warship building is a progressive art, and mistakes are constantly being made which can only be recognized after usage and experience have shown that they are mistakes and not improvements. This is true of every other navy in the world, as well as of our own, and we see no reason to alter the conclusion that ship for ship the American fleet is the equal of any that floats.

BUT COLORADO SPRINGS HASN'T DECIDED.

From the Pueblo Chieftain.

Now that Colorado Springs has decided the senatorial contest all that is necessary is for the rest of the state to elect assemblymen who will vote as Colorado Springs wishes them to.

GERMAN PRESS GALLERY CRISIS.

From the New York Times.

The epithet "schweine" publicly applied to the gentlemen in the press gallery of the reichstag by Herr Broeber, leader of the center, has been variously translated as "piggish brutes" and "swine." Either is objectionable. The resentment of the Berlin reporters is justified. Herr Broeber should apologize, as if he does not, the proceedings of the reichstag will not be reported in Germany or elsewhere. What is a parliament without a press? What fame could any member of the reichstag, the house of commons or the House of Representatives ever secure without reporters to give his speeches to the public? The game of politics would not be worth the candle. There would be no statesmen.

A LOSS TO CONGRESS.

From the Kansas City Star.

The resignation of Representative Littlefield of Maine will take from Congress a member who has been a consistent and earnest friend of the people, a legislator who has presented and worked for many important bills in the time of his incumbency, and whose sincerity and eloquence have been potential in numerous instances. If Maine chooses a successor worthy to take Mr. Littlefield's place, both the state and the country will be congratulated.

Mr. Littlefield's retirement will be a serious loss in service, but in so far as his resignation may be a protest against the restrictions imposed by a tyrannical speaker and his coterie of stranglers, just so far Mr. Littlefield may render the country an even greater service than would have been possible in Congress under existing conditions. The time is ripe for an uprising against the speaker's power in the house and against the dictation of the oligarchy in the senate. And who knows but the protest of such a people's advocate as Mr. Littlefield of Maine may precipitate the necessary movement and restore individual courage and individual rights and efficiency in Congress?

THE OCEAN LOSING ITS TERROR.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

Much has been said about the "shrinking" of the globe through the incessant improvement of the means of transportation and communication. Wonders, in truth, never cease, though their frequency breeds an unscientific indifference to them.

The opening of the New York submarine tubes was received almost as a matter of course. The automobile races from Pekin to Paris or from New York to Paris astonish no one. The establishment of new ocean records recently passed unnoticed. The new records were made by the "floating skyscrapers," the Mauretania and Lusitania. The former steamship made the run from New York to Queenstown in five days and five minutes; the latter reported gains which foreshadowed an even shorter time for "crossing."

A five-day schedule across the Atlantic is expected to become the regular and normal thing for the two great vessels named. And even that record will not long remain unchallenged. Already there is talk of a four-and-a-half-day schedule.

Such achievements wipe out the distance between the two worlds and rob the ocean of its terror. They stimulate travel and intercourse, for even the most timid, the poorest "sailors" and the worst sufferers from seasickness will regard five days on the ocean as a trifling drawback to the pleasures of sightseeing and contact with foreign people and peoples.

Nor are the five-day schedules a luxury of the very rich. Second-class accommodations are now as comfortable as first-class were not long ago, and even the "steerage" need not mean hardship, over-crowding and neglect.

The world is shrinking and the oceans are being tamed for all of us, rich and poor alike. That is why hundreds of thousands of laborers are crossing and recrossing the Atlantic and servant girls are taking European vacations.

A ROYAL WOOING.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

All the world loves a lover—when he is the real thing, not a sham—and the people of this country will watch with sympathetic interest the progress of the affair which has linked the names of the duke of the Abruzzi and the daughter of the senior senator of the United States for West Virginia. This friendly feeling is not compliment as to call for remark, but [illegible] for Prince Luigi of Savoy, the wooer in the case, is so different from the general run of the foreign titled men who have sought American brides that that alone would be sufficient explanation. He has proved himself to be an ambitious, able man, with higher ideals and purposes in life than often characterize men in his station. He has "done things" which called for courage and determination—things moreover that were worth while; things which added to the sum of the world's knowledge in geography and science, and he has made a place for himself in his profession that means something more than the promotions that habitually go with the blood royal.

Another aspect of the case which takes it out of the common running is the attitude of the lady's family. There is a total absence, so far as anyone knows of that degrading haggling which has thrown more than one recent international marriage. Indeed, the family of Miss Elkins appears to have shown a reluctance about the whole transaction which throws an entirely new light upon it. Much that has been published on the subject is pure conjecture, and the only excuse for the discussion of the details that has taken place is the conspicuous position of the reputed suitor, which makes this sort of publicity inevitable.

One suggestion has been heard, however, that is sinister, and that is that the Duke may be permitted by his family to make a morganatic alliance. It is only fair to assume that such a thought has never entered the mind of the young man, but if it should prove that it was ever entertained, the whole case would be radically altered. Such a suggestion would be an unforgivable insult to American womanhood, and would end, it is to be hoped, any thought of a matrimonial alliance between the House of Savoy and any respectable and self-respecting American woman.

THE MAN AND HIS JOB

By Herbert J. Hapgood

A business house whose employes are not each and all adjusted to their respective tasks is in much the same condition as the watch with which the four-year-old joy of the household had been amusing himself. By way of a little innocent pastime the child had taken the works all out and then put them together again. After having finished the job to his own approval and entire satisfaction, he brought the watch to his grandfather with the information that he had put everything together all right only there were one or two little wheels left over.

That watch must have run with about as much regularity as the business organization whose employes are selected and consigned to their work without due consideration of their ability to master the particular situation. Many good men have been rendered worthless by being put on the wrong job. A man may be a good bookkeeper, but as an executive or a salesman, wouldn't be worth carfare home.

Build up the human side of your business like the wheels, the springs, and the jewels of a good watch. Let every unit of human energy be valuable in himself, but still more valuable when put in the right place.

For men and air and sea together
The stars betoken stormy weather.

There will be two new moons this month. Mercury and Saturn rising before the sun at the first new moon, have an influence for stormy weather at sea, particularly over the eastern Atlantic. This position also foreshadows political excitement during the month.

Over Germany and Austria the lunation occurs in square to Uranus and Neptune, both of ill omen to rulers. Uranus holds the mid-heaven over Berlin and Vienna.

Over the latitude and longitude of New York the lunation, occurring on the lower meridian, denotes that danger threatens against house property, and there will be agitation against those who are uppermost. The sun in quartile to Jupiter makes for disturbances of the earth, the influence being most marked during the latter part of the month over southern Europe.

Venus is in perihelion this day, the 92nd day of the year and the 12th day of spring. The influences are unfavorable, particularly in the early part of this period. Dealings between the sexes are not under lucky signs.

A good day for baking, but neither auspicious or the reverse for other household undertakings.

Travel and change await the woman whose birthdate this is. A disappointment in love may come to the young.

The man with this birthdate is menaced by lawsuits springing from an unnecessary dispute.

The girl born this day will be overgenerous to those whom she loves, despite her better judgment.

The boy born today will be willful and inclined to change without sufficient reason.

WRITING EDITORIALS UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

From the Washington (Ia.) Democrat.

This gang was in the office last Friday, and how do you think we wrote any hefty editorials? Matt. Springman, Jim Fishburn, Ben Cherry, old Mr. Gault, Frank McCoy and D. W. Griffith, of Allisworth. When one of them would spring a joke, the rest would laugh till the academy clock stopped, and the more the waiter objected, the louder they laughed. So what was there to do but laugh too?

AN ARKANSAS VERDICT.

From the Princeton (Mo.) Post.

A coroner's jury in Arkansas returned the following verdict: "The jury finds that Bill Jones is dead and that he blowed his own head off and thereby killed himself dead, but we don't know if he has made his peace with God before he killed himself with a shotgun and malice aforethought against the peace and dignity of the state of Arkansas, and, therefore, we give the widow the right to marry another man who won't leave her the way Bill done. All of which is submitted in fear of God [illegible] hope that Bill got what was [illegible]."

Colorado City News

A meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the First M. E. church will be held tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Burt, 26 Lincoln avenue.

City Clerk C. R. Amimerman has deposited $500 in the First National bank of this city. This represents the liquor license money.

The Colorado Midland railroad will soon begin to lay additional switches at the Golden Cycle mill, owing to the great increase in business.

A Halter of Chicago was in the city yesterday to confer with Senator John B. Stephen. Squire Pond and others who are interested in the Queen Princess copper mine at Copperfield, Nev. It was decided to install immediately a full plant of machinery.

The public schools, after a week's vacation, last week, resumed their work Monday morning. With the exception of holidays on Arbor and Memorial days, no more vacations will be granted to the pupils until the regular summer vacation, beginning early in June and lasting until September.

A license for running a pool and billiard hall, for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1908, and ending March 31, 1909, was issued yesterday by City Clerk C. R. Amerman to Abbey & Nichols. The same firm has a retail liquor license for the same period, granted by the city council Monday evening.

P. J. Meenach yesterday took out the first huckster's license yet issued for the ensuing fiscal year by the city clerk. He deposited $100 for the license, on condition that if the ordinance now before the city council to raise the huckster's license from $50 to $100 does not pass, he is to be refunded $50.

Six engines belonging to the Colorado Midland road are being changed from compound to single expansion, and are being equipped with the Walschert valve gear. This change is said to make the cost of repairs less and the service of the engines better. Four dining cars belonging to the same road are being thoroughly repaired and refinished. They will be put into service about June 1.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church will serve a conundrum supper this evening from 5 to 8 o'clock in the dining room of the church. An exhibition of loaned works of art will be given in connection with the supper. The menu for the supper follows: Greased staff; a letter; cannot be beat; a woman's weapon; time measure; pride of New England; cause for tears; skipper's home; links of mystery; Cook's curious compound; country cousin's comfort; a miner's tool and a letter; stuff that dreams are made of; chopped commentator; crow's call and doctor's pay, and a sandy waste. All are invited.

"A Texas Steer," by Charles A. Hoyt, will be produced by the Athenian Dramatic club, composed of the young people of the Church of the Good Shepherd of this city, at the Waycott opera house, April 23, the first Thursday after Easter. FRANK MACARTHUR ELECTED

Chosen Chief of Manitou Fire Department Again—S. J. Davis Made Assistant.

Frank MacArthur was re-elected fire chief in Manitou at a meeting of the city council held last night at the town hall. S. J. Davis was elected assistant fire chief.

The Gamewell fire system has been installed in Manitou. In this system, all alarms are connected with the telephone wires, and the telephone operators inform the department of the alarms. The tower on the town hall, which holds the fire bell, has been raised 40 feet. Former Fire Chief Pierce of Denver installed the system there.

NEWSIES ENTERTAINED—Newsboys and carriers of The Gazette and the Evening Telegraph were the guests of Manager Braden at Fairchild last evening. Mr. Braden put on a special program for the occasion, and the boys were highly pleased with the entertainment.

SAYS HE SHOT TO SCARE HER

William Knuth Admits That He Fired Rifle During Trouble With Mrs. Recker.

William Knuth, the bachelor ranchman who was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harry Allward near Calhan last Friday, was placed on trial in Justice Dunnington's court yesterday on the charge of assault with intent to kill.

He admitted that he had taken several shots at Mrs. Ellen Recker with his rifle, as she charged in her testimony on the witness stand yesterday. She said that he had shot at her from a distance of about a quarter of a mile and missed her by only about four feet. Knuth admitted this, but declared that it was only with the intention of scaring, and not of killing her.

He was bound over to the district court under bond in the sum of $500.

FLAGG ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

Dies As Result of Accident—Had Many Friends Here.

Word was received in this city yesterday morning of the accidental death of Mortimer Flagg, in New York city, a few days ago. Mr. Flagg was entering his automobile when his pistol, which he carried in his hip pocket, was accidentally shot off. The bullet entered his body, and Mr. Flagg died a few days later as a result of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Flagg were in this city for a six weeks' visit a short time ago, and during their stay here made many friends.

PERKINS AND SHEARER BACK.

Enthusiastic About Purchases Made for New Store.

W. A. Perkins and James C. Shearer, of the firm of Perkins & Shearer, successors to Holbrook & Perkins, returned to this city yesterday from New York city, Rochester and other eastern cities, where they went two weeks ago to purchase an entirely new stock for their opening, which will occur not later than May 1.

Both Mr. Perkins and Mr. Shearer are most enthusiastic over their purchases. Many very late and exclusive styles in men's and boys' clothing and furnishings have been secured. Several of the best makes in men's and boy's clothing will be confined to the new firm.

The whole store building in the Bank block is being refitted and rearranged, and when completed will be one of the most attractive and convenient as well as one of the best lighted stores in the west.

The liberal policies and fair dealing methods which have characterized the old firm of Holbrook & Perkins will be followed by the new firm.

IT'S APRIL FOOL'S DAY

PRACTICAL JOKERS WILL BE EVERYWHERE

Beware of the Mischievous Small Boy and the Grown-Up Man Alike.

Look out!

It's April Fool's day, and you are liable to be a victim of the small boy or the grown man who has not forgotten the joys of boyhood.

Remember, also, that it is vacation time, and the "kids" have a wider range in which to exploit their innocent diversions.

According to the official horoscope compiled for this day only by The Gazette "devil," it will be a very unlucky time to find pocketbooks, as there is liable to be nothing in them.

The dreamer will be very unlucky this day, as he will think good fortune has struck him when, as a matter of fact, he will turn out to be the laughing stock of a group of youngsters.

Beware of cigars given freely this day. They will be loaded.

Do not partake of sweetmeats, as they are likely to be loaded with red pepper, soap and other ingredients not calculated to promote good humor.

Refrain from the delicious joy of kicking an innocent-looking high hat. It will have a stack of bricks under it.

Pay no attention to the tapping at your window after nightfall. It will unloosen the pent-up merriment of the "tick tack" operators.

Although it is leap year, young men are strongly advised against accepting proposals from wealthy young ladies, as they are likely to smile and say "April Fool!"

There are many other warnings in the horoscope of the "devil," but these should be sufficient to put even the absent-minded citizen on his guard for the day.

WHAT ABOUT A COOK-STOVE?

Now that summer time and "dog days" are just ahead, everybody who "summers" at home is considering how to simplify things and get the most comfort out of an uncomfortable situation.

We interview the iceman; order thin clothes; plan to ease up here and relax there; but more than likely forget the one most important item in the whole hot-weather scheme: some means of doing the family cooking without the insufferable heat of a coal fire in the kitchen.

Everyone with experience knows how tiresome it is to stay in a stuffy room to prepare a meal, let alone the doing of a big baking. But everyone doesn't know how very easy it is to change a hot kitchen to a cool one, and do better cooking at the same time. Just add to your list of summer conveniences a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove and you've done all that any one can do to lessen hot weather discomfort.

Wouldn't it be fine of a summer morning to step in the kitchen, put on the kettle, broil the steak, bake the muffins, filter the coffee and give the breakfast call in one-fourth the time you'd take to do it all on a coal stove? And wouldn't it be fine to be as cool when the breakfast was prepared as when you first entered the kitchen?

People who have tried it say that the New Perfection Oil Stove actually does everything in the line of cooking and domestic service without overheating the room or the worker.

Undoubtedly the reason is to be found in the blue flame principle on which the stove works.

A cylindrical chimney concentrates the heat at the stove top and in this way prevents surface radiation as in a coal or wood stove.

It is easy to see that this lessens very much the matter of personal discomfort in summer housekeeping.

So don't forget the New Perfection Oil Stove in your summer plans and you will have a comfortable kitchen and the best cook-stove in the world.

WOMEN TO HEAR BRYAN

DEMOCRATIC LEADER WILL SPEAK TWICE.

Meetings Scheduled for First Methodist Church and Temple Theater, Sunday.

That the women of Colorado enjoy wider privileges than the mere right of suffrage is attested by the action of the committee having in charge the meeting for them at Temple theater Sunday night, at which William Jennings Bryan will be the chief speaker. Recognizing that there will be wide interest in the visit of the famous speaker, a union meeting for women only has been arranged to be held at the First Methodist church on Sunday evening, at 7:15 o'clock, at which Mr. Bryan will also speak.

In order that all may have an opportunity to hear the Democratic leader, the usual Sunday night services at the various churches in the city will not be held. This action was decided on at the Ministerial association meeting, Monday morning.

There is every indication that the distinguished statesman will talk to packed houses. His subject will be "The Prince of Peace," a lecture that has made him famous aside from his political record.

At last Sunday's meeting, tickets were given for seats in the parquet at the Bryan meeting. Admission will be by ticket only. Tickets which will admit to the balcony if presented at the opening of the doors, may be secured free at the drug stores, cigar stores, billiard halls and hotels, and at the Y. M. C. A. The meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Introductory Sale of Armia Dress Shields

We take particular pleasure in recommending to our patrons the famous improved "Armia" Dress Shield, made by the Ohio Mfg. Co. These shields are absolutely odorless and far superior in most respects to any other make, being made with greatest care, under most sanitary conditions, and according to latest improved methods. Armia Dress Shields come in white only, all sizes; after wearing they can easily be washed with hot water and soap, and after being pressed with a hot iron are good as new.

INTRODUCTORY SALE. Instead of holding a regular demonstration of these scientific dress shields, we are going to make it decidedly worth your while to try a pair at a reduced price, so that you can put them fairly and squarely to test.

Armia Dress Shields are regularly retailed at 20c and 25c a pair, but to introduce them we are going to sell them today and tomorrow (Wednesday and Thursday) at 15c a pair; not more than two pairs to a customer at this price. This will give you an opportunity to discover their extraordinary merits; after which you will wear none other than Armia Shields.

S. H. & M. Silk Petticoats

On sale this week at $5.00 each, under a three months' guarantee against cracking or splitting

We were fortunate in securing an additional 100 of these great Petticoats to run at $5.00 each. In point of wear they are the equal of skirts costing $10.00 to $15.00 each, being made of identically the same quality of silk as S. H. & M. garments at those prices, but, of course, not so elaborate in design. At the least they are worth $6.50, and value for value are not duplicated at other lines for $7.50 or upwards. They are made of heavy, rich, lustrous pure silk taffeta in a big line of colors, two-tone effects and black; have an [illegible] stitched flounce with accordion-pleated under flounce of sun glass fabric exactly matching the silk. They are cut full width and full length as marked, and are altogether the greatest petticoat bargain ever offered anywhere.

SUFFERED WITH ECZEMA 25 YEARS

Limb Peeled and Foot Was Like Raw Flesh—Had to Use Crutches, and Doctors Thought Amputation Necessary — Montreal Woman Writes of Cure Seven Years Ago.

BELIEVES LIFE SAVED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first. He said, 'Try them if you like, but I do not think they will do any good.' At this time my leg was peeled from the knee, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh, and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bottle of Cuticura Pills. After the first two treatments the swelling went down, and in two months my leg was cured and the new skin came on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use it for his own patients. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Ointment, and five bottles of Resolvent, and I have now been cured over seven years, and but for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I have lots of grandchildren, and they are frequent users of Cuticura, and I always recommend it to the many people whom my business brings to my house every day. (Mrs.) Jean-Baptiste Renaud, Gatineau-st, 277, Montana St., Montreal, Que., Feb. 20, 1907."

RAILROAD OUTLOOK BAD

ERIE IN DANGER OF GOING BANKRUPT.

Other Stocks Take Heavy Slump and Close Looks Almost Like General Crash.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Dull depression hung over the stock market, leading up to something like a crash at the last today. There was some development which was pointed to as being responsible for the drop in prices. The tendency toward reaction finds a more general explanation, however, in the fact that the rise in prices had been pushed to its feasible limits by all the devices available to skilled speculative leadership, which reacted to yielding pressure which was beyond the supporting element to absorb.

The special depression in Erie today was the obscurity surrounding the intended course of those controlling the Erie railroad property. The adjournment yesterday of the directors without formulating any plan for meeting the impending financial requirements of the company was disturbing to those holding the securities of the company. Besides the interest, amounting to about $90,000, on convertible bond issues, payable tomorrow, and the $1,500,000 of one year notes, which fall due on April 8, and which sold today at 82, there are known to be other heavy floating liabilities to be met. The view that the company will be safeguarded from bankruptcy was founded on the independent resources at the command of the great banking house which is the principal sponsor for the company.

That this assumption of a means of rescue did not satisfy holders of the securities was evident from the wide declines at which bonds of different classes of the company were sold at the stock exchange. There was suggestive sympathy in the movement of issues of companies under the auspices of the same bankers and which are similarly straightened for financial means to meet urgent requirements. A line of policy to be adopted by an authority so influential in the financial world will be regarded as an expression of opinion over the future course of affairs, at least those concerning railroad property.

That the financial prospects of railroads are not bright is brought home to conviction by this episode. Not only the notes of the Erie, but those of railroad companies of high grade, continue to be quoted at varying discounts and at a rate of return wholly out of line with the interest rates to which loans on time have fallen in the money market. The provision for the maturity of $6,000,000 of Rock Island 4½ per cent notes, falling due tomorrow, include an offer to holders for a one-year extension at 6 per cent and apparently the attraction of this offer has not been sufficient to deter a sufficient portion of the noteholders from presenting them for redemption. The unpromitious conditions of financing railroad requirements are a serious impediment to the setting on foot again of railroad activities in the way of outlay for improvements and betterments.

The prevailing mood was reflected in the uneasiness professed over the possible reduction of the dividend on Atchison at the meeting of the directors which is scheduled to take place tomorrow. Action on the Anaconda dividend was expected today and when the session drew toward a close without any announcement on the subject, rumors were circulated of a reduction. The declaration of the unreduced dividend, however, failed to rally the market and last prices were practically the lowest and with signs of a good deal of disorder. Declines of 1 to 6 points and over are general.

Bonds are heavy. Total sales, par value, $2,355,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BREAKS MARCH RECORD

CRIPPLE CREEK OUTPUT FOR MONTH $1,385,177.20.

Low Treatment Rates of U. S. R. R. Company Causes Unusually High Tonnage.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 31. The result of the extremely low freight and treatment charges which have been inaugurated for over a month became apparent in March by the increase both in gross value and the tonnage treated. The total gross value of the ore treated amounts to $1,385,177.20, showing an increase over that of February of $142,864.20. The total number of tons handled by the mills and smelters reached the very high tonnage of 61,062, which is 2,840 more than last month.

As a result of the extremely low transportation charges put into effect during the latter part of February by the United States Reduction and Refining company there was more ore treated in March than at any similar time in the history of the camp. This has caused many dumps to be moved and a vast quantity of low grade ore is being sent out from many properties which have not heretofore been worked in several years.

The following table gives the individual treatment made by each mill and smelter as reported by the company officials:

Plant.	Tons.	Av. Val.	Value
U. S. R. & R.	16,400	$26.00	$426,400.00
Smelters	3,720	68.00	245,520.00

PORTLAND HAS WEALTH

NEW STRIKE ONE OF RICHEST IN DISTRICT.

Lucky Accident Uncovers Captain No. 3 Stope With Ore Carrying Picture Values.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 31.—The biggest and one of the richest ore shoots ever encountered on the famous Portland property, on the south slope of Battle mountain, has recently been made, but up to date the management has refrained from making the strike public. It is understood to have been found as a result of a small cave-in which broke down a "horse" that had hidden this new ore with an old stope, which had been prolific in rich ore several years ago.

This new body of ore is now 110 feet wide, and the indications are that it will be between 400 and 500 feet in length. It is known as Captain No. 3 stope and is found on the 500-foot level. Operations are being conducted from the No. 1 shaft.

Nothing like this immense body of ore has ever before been uncovered in the property. Not even the famous Annie Lee stope, which produced millions of dollars and which heretofore has been the biggest underground cavern in the district, will compare with the Captain No. 3 when the ore is finally mined and shipped. Without encountering another pound of ore or mining any other place of the 45 miles of underground workings, the Portland would be able to ship its 8,000 or 10,000 tons per month for at least a year, and perhaps longer. The best part of the new strike is that the shoot is thoroughly impregnated with rich streaks varying in width, and carrying picture values. Some of the screenings easily run as high as eight and 10 ounces, but, taken as a whole, clear across the 110 feet the ore will average values of $30 in gold to the ton.

This strike is by far the biggest and one of the greatest ever made in the Cripple Creek district, and compares with some of the best ever found in the Portland property, which is acknowledged to be the biggest gold-producing mine on the North American continent. With such a big strike, and such a grade of ore, it is expected that the Portland management will be enabled not only to pay its regular dividends of 16 cents per annum, but that extras will result, in bringing them well up to 20 cents or even higher.

WHEAT PIT BEARISH

VOLUME OF TRADE REMAINS SMALL.

Reports of Good Conditions in Kansas and Other Parts Unfavorable to Bulls.

CHICAGO, March 31.—The wheat market was quite steady during the first hour of the day because of moderate demand from pit traders which was based on light movement in the northwest, but in the last half of the session sentiment became very bearish and prices declined 2c to 1c from the high point. The volume of trade was small. Reports of more rain in Kansas and other points of the winter wheat belt were chiefly responsible for the weakness, but the market was also bearishly affected by stack demand for cash grain, declines in the principal European markets and favorable crop reports from southern Europe. Bull leaders failed to give the market any material support. Demand came mainly from shorts. The close was weak. May opened unchanged to ¼ lower, at 92⅞ to 92⅝, sold at 93½ and then declined to 92. The close was at 92⅛. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 195,200 bushels. The world's visible supply decreased 2,000,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 373,000 bushels, compared with a holiday last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 240 cars, against 916 cars last week and 359 cars a year ago.

Profit taking by several of the leading holders caused weakness in the corn market, sentiment in the pit being bearish all day. An increase in local receipts and a poor demand for cash corn and the slump in wheat were depressing influences. Trading was extremely quiet throughout the entire session. The market closed weak at almost the lowest point. May corn opened unchanged to ⅛ lower, at 66½ to 66⅝, sold off to 65⅞ and closed at 66⅛. Local receipts were 320 cars, with 94 of contract grade.

Oats were dull and rather weak. The weakness of wheat and corn had a bearish effect. May opened unchanged at 53⅞, sold off to 53⅛, and closed at 53¼. Local receipts were 301 cars.

Provisions were exciting at the opening, with the trade general in character. Later in the day the market weakened on profit taking and closed at almost the lowest point. Final quotations on May pork were off 7½@10, at $13.67½. Lard was down 10, at $8.90; ribs were 5@7½c lower, at $7.70@7.82½.

YOU ARE INVITED to come and let us explain to you how cooking drudgery, so irksome to all women who use a dirty old coal stove, can be turned into dainty cooking pleasure by the use of a gas range. The best gas range made costs but SIXTEEN DOLLARS.

Humanity's Appeal to Women

We pipe FREE to your house. With gas there is no dirt, ashes or toil. Just a turn of the wrist and a match and you have your fire. You can get a meal in evening dress in your house and never spot the gown. If you don't do your own work, relieve your good servants of the drudgery of running a mediaeval coal stove. They'll do better work with a gas range and not leave you. And again with gas your kitchen is cool and healthful. The Gas Co. If you can't come to us just WA-WAN SOCIETY—The meeting of the Wa-Wan society, which was to have been held Friday, has been postponed until Friday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Frederick Faust, 116 East Dale street, will entertain the club at that time.

OFFICERS DANCE—The officers of the Colorado Springs High School battalion will give the second of a series of dances Friday evening, at 8:30 o'clock, at the Alamo. The Alamo orchestra will furnish the music.

ELECTRIC GARAGE—To care for electric broughams and coupes exclusively, the North End Auto company will begin business at 19 East Buena Ventura street today, under the management of A. R. Flagler, an expert electrician and mechanic.

K. P. DANCE—The last dance of the series of Thursday evening dances, which the Pikes Peak company No. 10, U. R. K. P., has been giving, will be held tomorrow evening in the Majestic hall. The dances have been quite successful, but the early opening of outdoor amusements has caused the committee to close the series for the present.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SAYS that outdoor exercise is needed by the American people. That's all very well, but how can people with rheumatism follow that advice? The answer is simple—use Ballard's Snow Liniment and the rheumatism will go, leaving you as spry as a colt. Gives quick and permanent relief from rheumatism, neuralgia, lame back and all pains. Sold by all dealers.

SPRING CLOTHING DISPLAY AT THE MAY COMPANY.

To the man in search of a spring suit an inspection of the unusual display of men's wearables at the May Co. is certainly a pleasant surprise. Clothing that is manufactured by the foremost houses in America have contributed to this remarkable stock, replete as it is, with all the latest styles. The popular spring shades are gray, green, mixed, olive, elephant brown and tan. They are made up in the most approved fashions with nobby, clean-cut hang of the trousers. The coats have the full chested effect, with long sweeping lapels and graceful lines throughout, giving an easy and comfortable appearance to the wearer. The May Co. is to be congratulated upon its spring showing.

Extravagance disguised as economy

Too often a man thinks he saves money by letting his watch run without cleaning, for a number of years. While the watch probably keeps fairly accurate time for several years, the eventual cleaning shows much unnecessary wear and tear of the delicate bearings caused by lack of oil, often rendering the watch unfit for accurate timekeeping. A dollar a year will keep it in perfect condition.

Never Fear The Wind

You may venture out in any kind of weather without danger of chapped face and hands, if you use GUTMANN'S DRY CLIMATE CREAM. If your skin is nice and smooth now, this cream will keep it so; if not, it will make it so. It cannot soil the gloves, as it contains no grease.

Home Made Pies

It is useless for you to go to the trouble of making pies at home, when we can furnish you with just as good.

Our pies are liked for their crisp, flaky crusts and generous, delicious filling. If you are not eating our pies, you are missing one of the good things of life.

Just telephone and say, "Send me one of your delicious pies." What kind do you want?

Kayser silk gloves

A notable display of exceptionally good values

The fact that these are Kayser gloves is a strong support in behalf of this stock. There's a wide range of styles, long and short, and of particular interest are the extremely low prices.

Remembering the scarcity for silk gloves a year ago, we thought it wise to lay in a supply before the season began. And it is equally important that you make early selections while our stock is fresh and complete.

Kayser, two clasp silk gloves, in black and white, an exceedingly strong line, pair 50c

Kayser fine weight silk gloves in the two clasp at 75c, $1.00, $1.25.

Kayser 12-button length, silke gloves, in black, white and dainty evening shades at, pair 1.25

Kayser silk gloves, in the 16 button length, shown in black, white, browns, grays and dainty evening shades, pair 1.50

Lisle thread silk gloves, made by the Kayser people, 16-button length, very neat and serviceable, pair 1.00

We are making a special show of linen suits, lingerie dresses and hats to match
